

Word of the Day – Dyslexic

Transcript

Hi everyone. Today's word of the day is dyslexic. Dyslexic is a person who suffers from dyslexia. Dyslexia is a reading disorder or impairment and it's usually associated with someone who reads the words backwards, so either the order of the words or the words themselves. And I can use it in this way

“The boy was dyslexic so it took him longer than his classmates to complete reading assignments”

And usually when you have dyslexia in the US you can have an extension on an exam or qualifying test.

And I can also use dyslexic in slang and just use it causally and not really meaning that I'm dyslexic. But when I'm tired I tend to mix up my words or when I'm confused and I'm talking to two different people at the same time I tend to mix up my words and someone can tell me that I'm dyslexic. So I hope you can use the word dyslexia or dyslexic to describe certain a situation or a person. And thank you for listening to Practicus Word of the Day. You can find the script at Practicus.co.kr. Thank you and have a good day.
