Word of the Day – Eloquent

Transcript

Hi everyone. Today's word of the day is eloquent. Well if you think of the word eloquent it sounds like the word elegant. So it means to speak elegantly and naturally. And it also means to speak powerfully in a moving way. People can feel your emotion and actually feel motivated by what you are saying. So they agree with you. I can use it in this way.

“Martin Luther King Jr. was considered an eloquent orator as spoke with his heart and aided an entire civil rights movement.”

So here he's very eloquent and we can also remember this word because “loq” “l-o-q” is also meaning talkative or loquacious, so to talk. But in this case if you remember eloquent with the word elegant then it's very easy to remember. So I hope you can use the word in your everyday lives. Thank you for listening to Practicast.
