

Word of the Day – Animated

Transcript

The word of the day today is animated. Animated is an adjective. This word is a positive word. This word describes someone or something that is very energetic and vivacious.

For instance, let's say you are feeling down in the dumps. You are depressed. It seems as if nothing is going right and your day went terribly. Plus the weather forecast had not predicted rain, so you had not brought your umbrella. As a result, you got rained on. But once you enter your apartment your new puppy makes everything better. He is so animated and excited to see you that you cannot help but feel better. His behavior is so infectious you soon forget all of your troubles and you have a great evening. You even suspect you have may have become a little animated as well.

In another example, let's say you had entered a writing contest. The main prize is a trip to Europe. You had entered with a glimmer of hope that you would win. Then you receive a call a few weeks later; you had won the writing contest. You are so excited you cannot contain yourself. You quickly call all of your friends and are so animated that they tell you to slow down because they can hardly understand what you are saying.

I hope you find this word useful in expressing your thoughts more clearly. For more information you can find the script on the homepage.